

Volcano Resume Project

It's tough for volcanoes to find jobs these days! In order to help one out, you will be creating a resume for a volcano. Use textbooks, the books from class, and the following websites to help you on your quest in helping your volcano find a job!

Helpful websites:

Volcano World – <http://volcano.und.edu>

Earth's active volcanoes – www.geo.mtu.edu/volcanoes/world.html

Hawaiian volcanoes – <http://hvo.wr.usgs.gov>

Requirements:

Human Resume	Volcano Resume
Identifying Information: Name, address, phone number, cell phone number, fax, email personal data or details	Identifying information: Volcano name Volcano location, including latitude and longitude, closest city or country Optional picture of the volcano
Description of yourself: Qualifications Education Additional training Licenses, certifications, or accreditations	Volcano description: Type of volcano (shield, cinder cone, or composite) Eruption style Magma composition Current status (dormant, extinct, or active)
Employment history or work experience: Work history Background	Eruption history: Local history Past eruptions
Additional information: Accomplishments Scholarships and awards Portfolio	Additional information: Formations or other features created Economic loss and loss of life are reported An interesting story is listed, for example, when Mt. Pelee erupted, one survivor was found in the local jail Possible mitigation is discussed such as sirens or escape routes Benefits for the area are discussed. For example, after the Japanese volcano Sakurajima erupted, the island produced a good crop of kumquats because the soil was enriched by volcanic ash
References: Contact information of people who know you and will vouch for your credibility	References: Bibliography of sources used to gather the information

FIGURE 3 Volcano résumé grading rubric

Element	Exemplary (5 points each)	Proficient (3 points each)	Developing (1 point each)
Identifying information, volcano name and location	The volcano's identifying information is thoroughly listed. A picture of the volcano is also included.	The volcano's identifying information is adequately listed. Very little information is missing.	The volcano's identifying information is poorly listed. Much information is missing.
Volcano description	The description of the volcano is thorough. Eruption types, magma composition, and the status of the volcano are all listed.	The description of the volcano is adequate. Eruption types, magma composition, and the status of the volcano are partially listed.	The description of the volcano is poor. Eruption types, magma composition, and/or the status of the volcano are not listed.
Eruption history	A thorough summary of the eruption history is listed.	An adequate summary of the eruption history is listed.	A poor summary of the eruption history is listed.
Additional information	Additional information is thoroughly reported.	Additional information is adequately reported.	Additional information is poorly reported.
References	There is a minimum of three sources listed in a proper bibliographic manner. If an internet source is used, the author of the page, date when it was found, and the complete web address taking the reader directly to the web page used are listed.	There are less than three sources listed in proper bibliographic manner.	The sources are not listed in proper bibliographic manner.
Design and format	Good use of color, borders, and pictures. The résumé is only one page in length and the paper is filled. Name and class period are on the back of the page.	An adequate use of color, borders, and pictures. The résumé is close to the required length. Name or class period is missing from the back of the page. This information is written on the front of the page.	There is poor use of color, borders, and pictures. The résumé is not the required length. Name, and/or class period are missing.
Conventions	No spelling or capitalization errors. Uses paragraphs, stanza divisions, and other textual markers correctly to enhance meaning.	Very few spelling or capitalization errors. Eliminates or manipulates sentence fragments for emphasis and stylistic effect.	Some spelling and capitalization errors. Begins to manipulate punctuation for emphasis and stylistic effect.

Total points: /35